because the reports were not signed, was there a telephone number given which the stories could be verified, articles that otherwise would have been published or of necessity omitted from the society department. It is almost unbelievable that in the of absolute refusal for over two years, on the part of the society editor, no assigned contributions, hardly a week passes without its quota of reports that cannot find a place in these columns. We solicit contributions to society, club, personal and music departments, but we also request a signature, assuring good faith. The name of the contributor is never divulged, is a necessary appendage. Weddings represent the special social life for this week. Society cannot be lashed out of its lethargy and it is probable the season will not begin next month or the following. The immaculate appearance of the brides, as they marched to the stately Thursday morning in their spotless uniforms, drew many compliments and spectators along the line.

Mr. Frank F. Snedecar and Mrs. W. Langstrom were complimented with formal dinner given by Doctor and Mrs. E. Smith Friday evening of week. Pink roses graced the dining room, and adorned the table circled the host and hostess and honor Mrs. Eugene Breyman, Mr. and Mrs. P. Boise Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. McNary.

Complimenting Miss Evaline Louise Eakin, bride-elect, and her fiancé, Joseph Augustus Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. T. Trover entertained with a family party last Sunday in their home on Riverside Drive. The bride wore graceful elaborations of garb and showers in pink and white, and the table decorations were carefully carried out in the same manner. The color scheme again appeared in the dinner courses. Place cards in pink and white hearts, embellished with portraits of the honor guests.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Sargent were hostesses with a luncheon at their home Friday night, after the dance last night. Making up the party were Mrs. Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grevelly, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic D. Deen, Doctor and Mrs. Harry E.

Clay, Doctor and Mrs. Thomas C. Smith Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chauncey Bishop.

The members of St. Paul's church are giving a welcome reception for their new rector, Reverend Robert M. Gill, and his wife, next Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thielens.

It has been a very long time since the social calendar was graced with a children's party, where some of Salem's future belles and beaux frolicked the hours away in celebration of a birthday. Robert Chauncey Bishop was four years old on Friday, September the fifth, and in honor of the day was given a "Round-up" jollification with appropriate decorations and novelties. Among the little playmates who had returned from the beach and could accept his birthday invitation, were Mildred and Helen Roberts, Dorothy Livesley, Virginia Smith, Grace Farrar, Muriel Steeves, Helen Heyser, Frederick Schrock and Charles Bier. The merry crowd circled the big dining table with its white linen smothered in bronze and deep red autumn leaves. Floating from the electric fan were ribbons of scarlet satin ending with place cards of parlor fire works that snapped and sparkled and turned themselves into cunning little caps for the guests. Souvenirs for the party were cowboys and lasso girls in buckskin costumes and appropriate hats, bucking bronchos and Pendleton Round-up ornaments.

Robert Chauncey occupied the place of honor before his beautiful red birthday cake, topped with four brilliant, blazing candles, and very carefully, he cut the portions. Many pretty gifts were showered upon the birthday boy, and among them were presents from San Francisco and Pendleton.

Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson and Mrs. Clifford Brown assisted Mrs. Bishop with the entertaining and in serving the dainty luncheon.

A notable success was the informal dance given by the Cherrians last week Friday, to defray the Salem band expenses to Pendleton for the Round-up. The affair was held in Armory hall and attended by a large crowd gathered from all sets and circles in the city.

Miss Evaline Louise Cronise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cronise, and Mr. Joseph Augustus Benjamin were quietly married at two thirty o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, September tenth, in the Cronise home, 195 Front street. The pretty wedding was planned in green and white surroundings for the ceremony, which was performed by Reverend P. S. Knight in the living room, where clematis, blossoming full with snow-white flowers, was used most artistically, twining and draping the walls, archways and windows, and forming a background where the ring service was read.

The lovely bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe de chine with shadow lace and tiny rhinestone ornaments. She carried immense white chrysanthemums.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Miss Nannette Bloom. Only immediate relatives and one or two friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride's aunt, Mrs. J. O. Riggs, and her daughter, Hazel, came up from Portland with Doctor Riggs, and Miss Greta Fortmiller was a guest from Albany. Ralph and Harry Cronise arrived in time for their sister's wedding.

A light luncheon was served in the dining room decked with brilliant variegated dahlias. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin left on the afternoon limited for Portland, where they will make their future home, and will occupy apartments at the Rosefield, East Fourteenth and Stark streets.

The bride's going away gown was a stunning tailor model of mahogany color worn with close capstan, maline trimmed.

This interesting wedding, for which a later date had been set, was the culmination of a romance beginning three years ago. To Mrs. Benjamin's very large circle of friends and admirers the news of her marriage came as a great surprise.

Mr. Benjamin, who attended the college of law at Willamette and was graduated in nineteen eleven, comes from a fine, old New England family in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. He is substantial in character, capable and reserved. Arriving to Salem about six weeks ago it was his intention to locate in this city as law partner of Mr. Walter Spaulding, but later decided to begin practice immediately in Portland, and urged an earlier marriage that he might be accompanied by his wife.

Miss Cronise was one of Salem's clever, pretty girls, a typical American maid, independent and competent. Her beautiful soprano voice has often been heard in recital and concert. She will be greatly missed by the younger and youngest society set whom she has guided through the intricate steps of all fashionable dances. Her classes have been the social joy of these young lads and lassies.

Although the wedding date was not generally known, many dainty and useful gifts found their way to the bride-elect's home.

Congratulations and the most sincere wishes for a prosperous future are bestowed upon this young couple.

In the midst of a lovely grouping of floral decorations at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. C. Chamberlain, 1224 Court street, Clara M. became the bride of Mr. Kirk R. Howard of Manchester, Vermont, Tuesday, September ninth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Reverend Perry Frederick Schrock read the double ring service in the presence of a few close friends.

The entrance hall was a bower of feathery white starred clematis and Caroline Testout roses. The living room mantle was banked with the roses and maiden hair fern, and the same flowers were used as pretty Indian baskets. Pink asters and fronds of maiden hair fern graced the dining room and centered the table where delicate refreshments were served.

The bride wore a dainty gown of turquoise blue charmeuse with drapings of fine white lace. She was unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard are leaving soon for Chicago, where they will be at home after October fifteenth at 6433 Normal Boulevard.

Mrs. Howard possesses many warm friends in Salem, where she taught in the Garfield school for two or three years.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Mildred Brooks, who came in from Newport, Mrs. Percy Gilmore of Eugene, Miss Livia Ferren of Forest Grove, and Miss Eva Campbell of Portland.

Mrs. Roy Shane-Wagner made Mrs. William Rufus King honor guest last Wednesday in Portland, when she asked a dozen women to enjoy an informal afternoon with Mrs. King before her departure for the east.

Cards have been received by Salem friends for the marriage of Miss Mattie Misamore and Dolph Tuggle at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. L. Misamore, 872 East Main street, Portland. The ceremony will take place at eight o'clock and will be followed with a reception at nine o'clock. Their home will be in Stockton, California. Miss Misamore has a wide circle of friends in this city, where she was a public school instructor for three years. Her beautiful character and winning personality have made life-long friends.

Surprising her husband last Saturday evening, on the occasion of his birthday, Mrs. F. J. Miller asked in a few friends and entertained them with interesting parlor games and an elegant luncheon. Especially fine were two delicious cakes sent to their father from his two daughters in Albany. The affair was most enjoyable.

Of interest to Salem society is the news of the details of Miss Barbara Willis Eakin's marriage to Mr. Frederic Charles Fulton, which was one of the most handsomely appointed weddings ever solemnized in Astoria. Several hundred of the most prominent people in the city attended the nuptial celebration in First Presbyterian church, at eight o'clock, on the evening of Friday, September the fifth.

The chancel was beautifully decorated with masses of blue and white hydrangeas, immense white chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. Clusters of hydrangeas in the same color motif were laid on the broad window sills, fringed with trailing ferns.

Miss Faye Ball presided at the organ and Mrs. Fletcher Linn of Portland sang "Because." Two little girls, Eleanor Eakin and Priscilla Eakin, sister and cousin of the bride, preceded the ushers, stretching white ribbons along either side of the aisle. Their frocks were of dainty lingerie, worn with pink sashes and head bands.

Miss Mary Eakin was her sister's maid of honor and wore a charming combination of lavender charmeuse drop and overdress of pink chiffon caught with small lavender rosebuds. Her flowers were beautiful lavender asters.

Miss Ellen Thielens of Salem, as bridesmaid, was in pale blue crepe de chine with elaborations of white lace, blue chiffon and pink and blue rosebuds. Miss Gertrude Uphur of Portland was also bridesmaid and was gown in pale blue charmeuse of the same shade, with white embroidered crepe chiffon. Each carried an armload of pink asters, and the three attendants on the bride wore white Juliet caps and short veils. The bride, who was given by her father into the groom's keeping, was exquisite in a handsome robe of white meteor crepe with full train and embellishments of rare lace. The long tulle veil was held in place with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a lovely brooch of pearls and sapphires, the groom's gift.

The bridal bouquet was fashioned of orchids and lilies of the valley, with a shower of the tiny Cecil Bruner rosebuds.

Mr. Alan Fulton was his brother's

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

attendant. Reverend Gilbert met the bridal party at the altar, and after reading the ring service, pronounced the blessing.

This wedding was celebrated on the thirty-fifth anniversary of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fulton of Portland. Miss Faye played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus and Mendelssohn's Wedding March, for processional and recessional.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given for relatives and very near friends, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Eakin. The bridal party received in the drawing room, where quantities of blue hydrangeas made attractive decorations. The dining room was brilliant in yellow, with asters, golden-glow, marigolds and lighted candles in settings of asparagus fern and maiden hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton went to Banff for a short stay and from there they will go to Spokane and are planning to be in Seattle by September twenty-fifth. On that date will occur Miss Gertrude Uphur's wedding, at which Mrs. Fulton will appear as matron of honor.

Among the many splendid gifts of jewelry, house furnishings and checks was a deed to the beautiful ranch bungalow at Stanfield, where the young people will make their home.

The portrait of Mrs. William Rufus King, appearing in Sunday's issue of a Portland paper, is almost unrecognizable. Mrs. King, who is very pretty and youthful in appearance, is petite, with large black eyes and a wealth of dark hair. She is vivacious and of charming personality. She has been honor guest at innumerable social affairs during the past fortnight, these having been given by her Portland, Aurora and Woodburn friends as compliments before her departure for the east.

Judge King has recently been appointed chief counsel of the reclamation service, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. The family will reside in that city.

A committee on decorations made the First Christian church auditorium and parlors very attractive last Wednesday evening when the congregation assembled to welcome their new pastor, Reverend F. T. Porter and his wife. Delicate vines twined the altar and rostrum. Caroline Testout and white roses, and baby breath were further decorations. Pink asters were added to the roses for adorning the parlors.

An entertaining program of music and speeches gave pleasure for the evening. Among the numbers were selections by the Sunday School orchestra and a solo by Mr. Charles Knowland.

Punch was served from two bowls surrounded by crimson dahlias and ferns. Presiding were Miss Merle Tracy, Miss Vivian Hargrove, Miss Esther Grennells and Miss Ruth Hansbro. The very delightful affair was enjoyed by a large number of guests.

A wedding of more than passing interest to Salem acquaintances was that of Miss Susan Steiwer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Steiwer, to William Lester Reinhart, in Fossil, Oregon, Saturday evening, September the sixth, Reverend Jones of Condon officiating in the presence of about twenty relatives and friends. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Steiwer and the groom's best man was Estee Bronius of Hood River.

Miss Jean Brownlie of Portland sang "At Dawning" by Cadman, while the guests assembled, and Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" was played by Miss Leila Sutherland of Walla Walla as the bridal party took its place in the floral bower. Mendelssohn's wedding march rang out at the close of the ceremony.

The bride was very charming in a robe of white crepe meteor with an overdress of delicate lace. Her head ornament was a cap of white maline and her flowers a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore blue crepe de chine and carried lavender asters.

Refreshments were served immediately after the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart left for a wedding trip. They will return to Fossil for residence.

The Steiwer home was beautifully decorated with great quantities of ferns and vines with bouquets and baskets of asters.

The bride was graduated from Portland Academy and later she attended Mrs. Merrill's school in New York City. The bridegroom is a graduate of Washington state college.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cronise have issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Evaline Louise, to Mr. Joseph Augustus Benjamin, Wednesday, September tenth, nineteen hundred thirteen, Salem, Oregon.

In Vancouver, Washington, last Wednesday afternoon, Miss Flossie Shambrook became the bride of Tony B. Virden. Miss Shambrook, who was private secretary to the late Governor Benson, has many friends in this city who will rejoice in her happiness. Mr. Virden, who is a conductor on the Roseburg run of the Southern Pacific, is pronounced by one of his friends to be "a prince of a fellow." News of the wedding came as a surprise to Salem friends.

During Governor Benson's administration, while he was absent from the city, Miss Shambrook was named "acting governor."

Mr. and Mrs. Virden will make their home in Roseburg.

Salem Woman's Club Notes.

In response to the call for a special meeting, members of the club assembled last Wednesday afternoon at their auditorium in the library building, for the purpose of electing delegates to the state federation meeting at Hood River, which convenes on the evening of October sixth and adjourns at noon on the ninth. The delegates chosen were:

The Best Food-Drink Lunch at Fountains

Insist Upon ORIGINAL GENUINE HORLICK'S

Avoid Imitations—Take No Substitutes

Rich milk, malted grain, in powder form. For infants, invalids and growing children. Pure nutrition, upbuilding the whole body. Invigorates nursing mothers and the aged. A quick lunch prepared in a minute.

EAT CABBAGE, FISH SAUSAGE, NEW BREAD

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Upset Stomach If You'll Take "Pape's Diapepsin"—Try This!

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Diapepsin, get this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eruptions of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

Miss Mattie Beatty, by virtue of her office as president of the club; Mrs. Richard E. Cartwright, president-elect; Mrs. John H. Albert, Mrs. Joseph O. Palmer, with Mrs. A. N. Moore, Mrs. William C. Kington and Mrs. R. S. Wallace, alternates. A report from the chairman of the rest-room board was most interesting, and disclosed the usual generosity of Salem people when a worthy project is presented to them.

Arrangements are practically finished and the plan of action submitted was accepted in detail. Although the board can see its way clear to support the enterprise for one year, and has rented Reverend P. S. Knight's residence at 257 Liberty street, to be used as a rest home, it solicits further contributions, no matter how small. The place is undergoing repairs, that will call for an unexpected outlay. Almost every man and woman in Salem can give a mite to help build up a home for out of town shoppers and strangers, and particularly for suburban and ranch dwellers while on business in the city. Women accompanied by small children are urged to accept the free hospitality of the home, and young women and girls will be cared for by a competent matron. It is the plan of the board in the near future to add to this civic organization an employment bureau for women and girls.

There is much detail in connection with this rest room movement that will be made public when the abode is ready for occupancy. With Mrs. A. N. Bush as chairman of the board of control and the following women as aides, Mrs. John H. Albert, Mrs. William E. Kirk, Mrs. J. H. Lewis and Miss Mattie Beatty, together with the financial support of Salem citizens, there is no possibility of a failure in connection with the establishment of a rest room.
